BALLARINI

We are Italian

Since 1889, BALLARINI has been creating products infused with Italy's rich culinary tradition. Packed with chef-friendly features and cutting-edge technological advancements, BALLARINI puts the pleasure in prep work, making cooking with friends and family a joy, so you can cook with amore every day.

Original Ballarini family

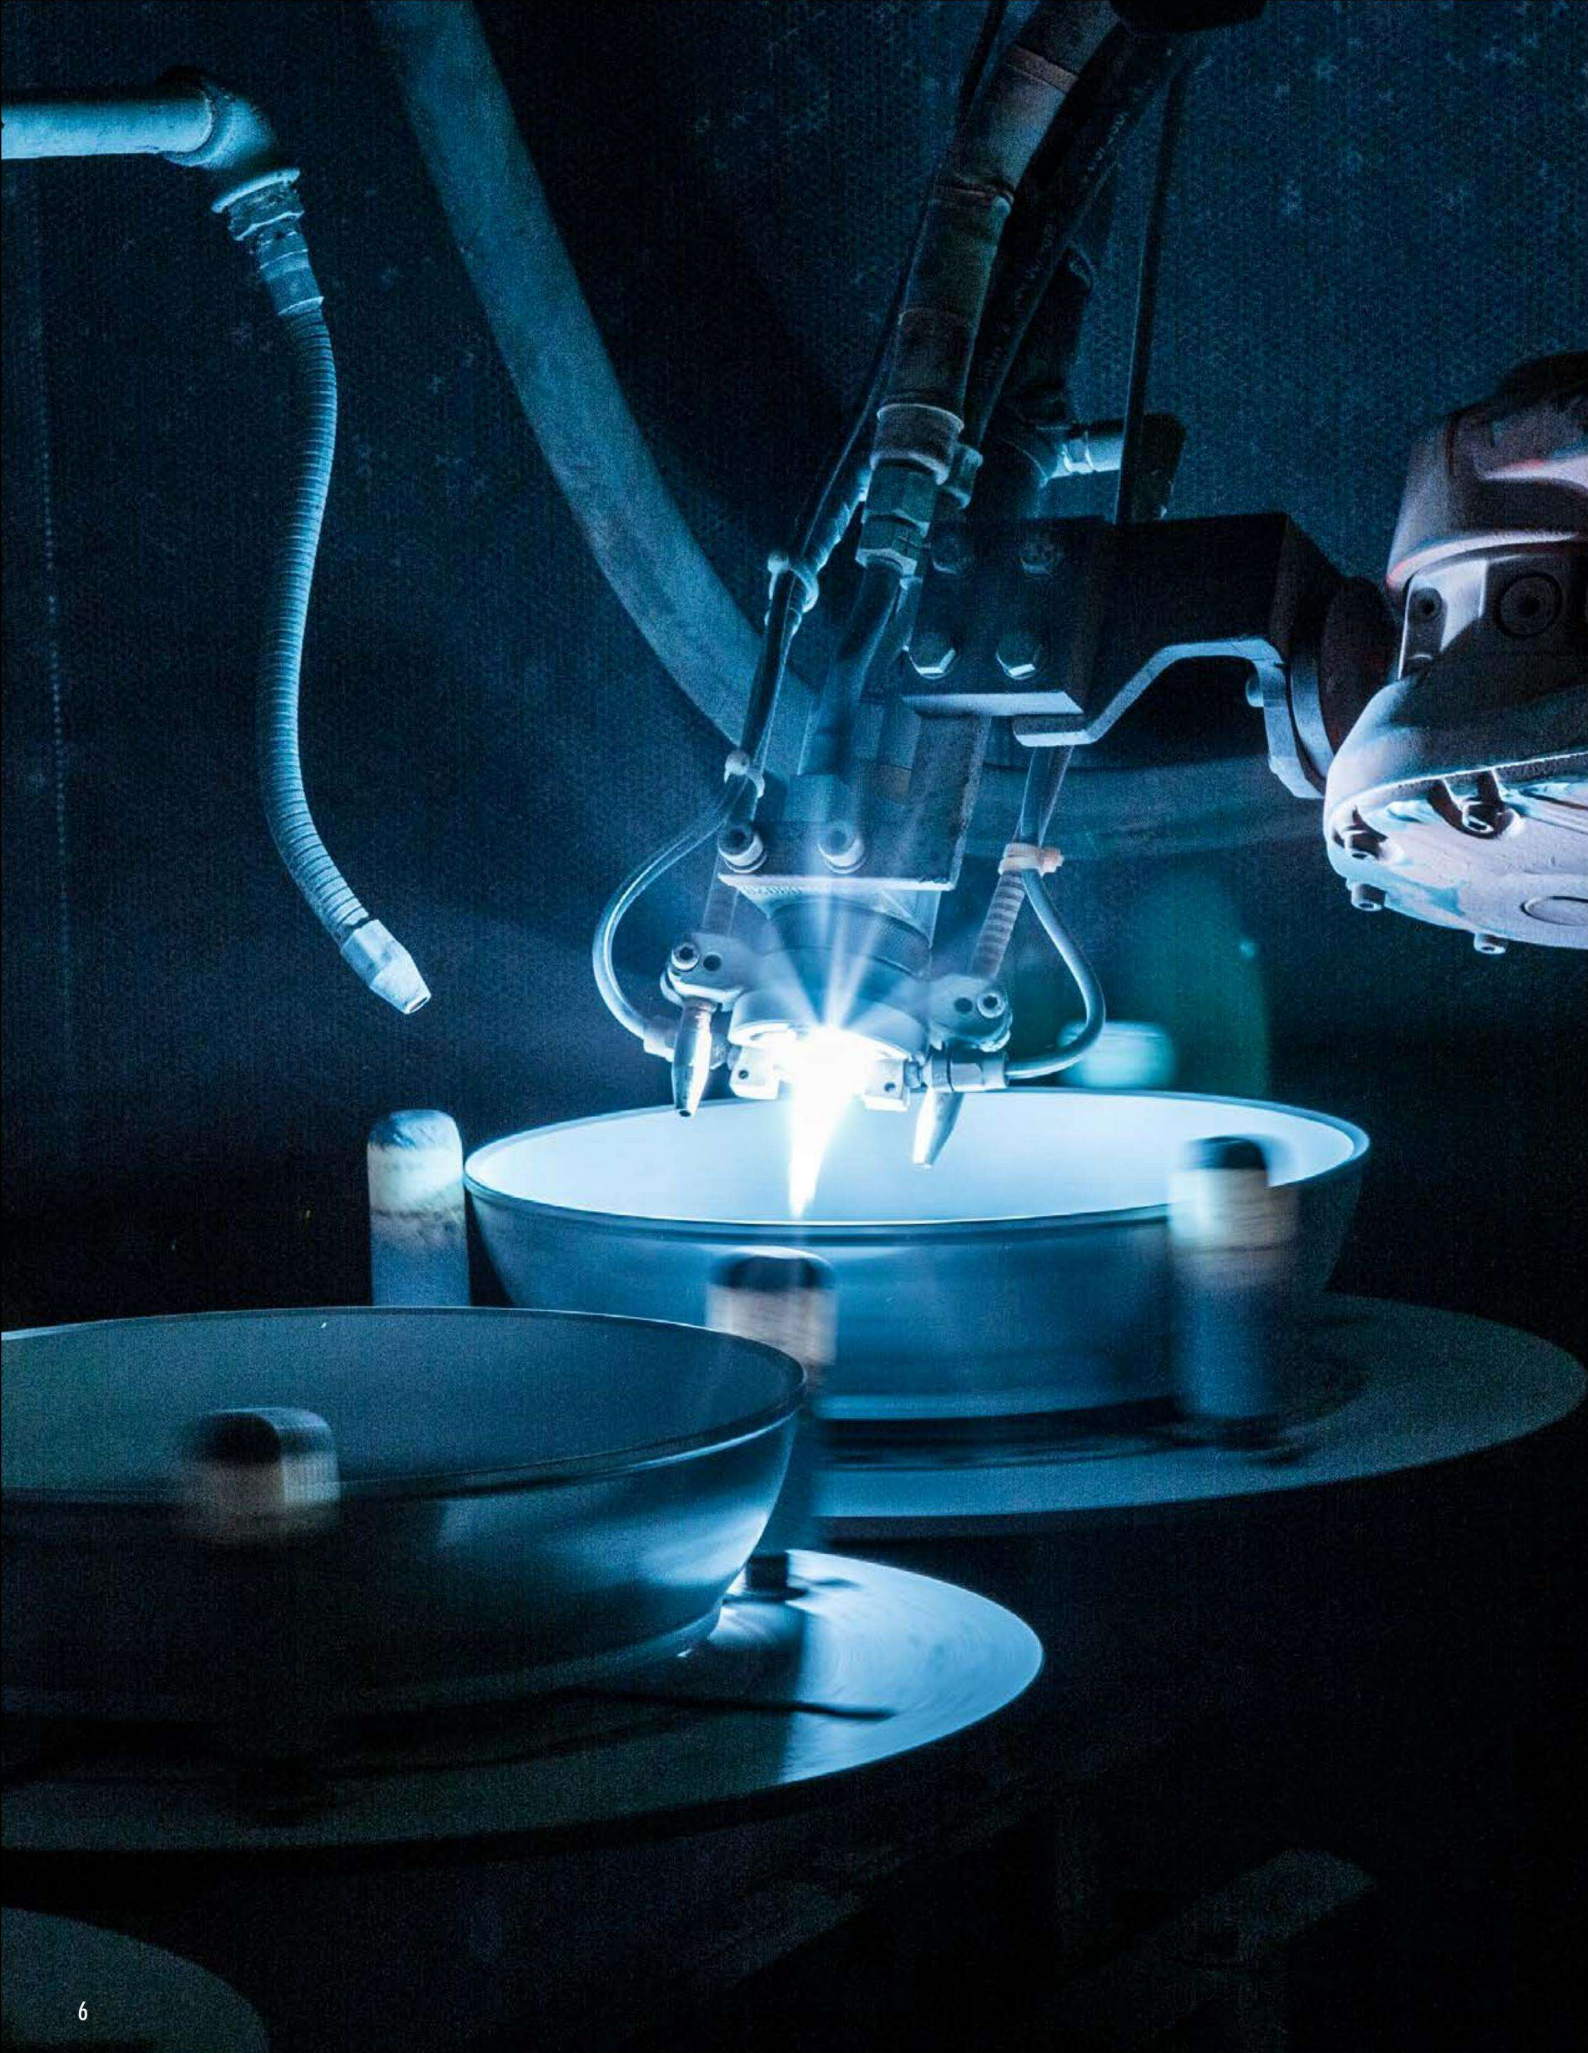

Baking seals in the nonstick coating

A Vibrant History

For BALLARINI, “Made in Italy” means Italian cuisine, tradition, and culture infused into its high quality cookware. From its start, the venerable heritage brand has been based in the small town of Rivarolo, Montovano. The five generations of the BALLARINI family share the values that have made the brand what it is today: quality, innovation, and respect for the environment. Italians have cooking in their DNA. Passion flavors their food, which is adored the world over.

Cutting Edge Technology

The list of innovations that make BALLARINI kitchenware so special is long and varied. From THERMOPOINT® technology that signals when a pan is ready to cook with or clean to ultra-durable and scratch resistant GRANITIUM® and Keravis nonstick surfaces, BALLARINI is constantly improving and evolving to bring you the best in nonstick cookware and everything else you need for the kitchen. BALLARINI also offers bakeware, cutlery, flatware, tools, and even electrics. Every product is made with the passionate cook in mind, so that you can experience la bella vita every time you cook.

Parma

Aluminum Nonstick Cookware

The BALLARINI Parma line is a nonstick like no other. The GRANITIUM® nonstick coating is reinforced with revolutionary speckles and ceramic particles that ensure quick release and easy clean up. This ultra-durable GRANITIUM® coating boasts unsurpassed scratch resistance making it metal utensil safe. No PFOA was used to make Parma cookware. The patented THERMOPOINT® technology signals when your pan is hot or cool, letting you know when it is time to cook or clean with its innovative light sensor. Parma cookware heats up rapidly and evenly for superb cooking results each time.

Cold-forged extremely pure aluminum body for superior heat retention and distribution resulting in even cooking

THERMOPOINT® Technology enhances cooking and protects pans

3 extra durable layers of GRANITIUM® ceramic reinforced coating for quick release and fast cleanup – no PFOA used to make this product

Ergonomic, stay cool handle offers a comfortable grip and maximum control

Super scratch resistant-safe to use with metal utensils

Professionalé

Cookware

The BALLARINI Professionalé series was developed to meet the specific needs of professional chefs. Professionalé is made from high-quality carbon steel and aluminum and offers unsurpassed heat conduction and retention. With no hot spots, chefs can enjoy even cooking, perfect browning, and stellar frying each time. Sloped side walls ensure easy sautéing while long, ergonomically angled handles reduce arm fatigue. These sturdy pans are designed to withstand the demands of busy kitchens.

3000 Series Carbon Steel Fry Pans

ServInTavola – Mini Serving Pieces

Professionalé

3000 Series Carbon Steel Fry Pans

Carbon steel is less brittle than cast iron, so these pans are thin and lightweight while maintaining excellent durability. Unlike cast iron, which takes time to season, carbon steel's smooth surface naturally develops nonstick qualities after repeated use with oil. The thick construction provides unparalleled heat conduction and retention. When these pans get hot, they stay hot, guaranteeing perfect searing and browning. Sautéing is a cinch thanks to ergonomically angled handles and sloped side walls that prevent food from spilling.

FEATURES AND BENEFITS

Durable, thick iron construction

Unparalleled heat retention for perfect browning and frying

Achieve the same results as cast iron with this lightweight option

Superior flat base stability – pan will not bulge

Sloped side walls offer easy tossing and sautéing

Angled iron handles

Compatible with all cooking surfaces, including induction

Oven safe up to 600°F
